Section 2 Important information about nominating beneficiaries

Non-lapsing binding nomination

A valid non-lapsing binding nomination is legally binding on the Trustee. In order to be valid the person(s) nominated must qualify for payment under the law and meet the definition of a dependant as outlined below:

You can nominate a dependant, your legal personal representative or a person with whom you have an interdependency relationship as your beneficiary. If you nominate your legal personal representative it is important that you have a valid Will and keep it up to date, as the Trustee must pay your death benefit to your estate.

Dependants - 'Dependant' is defined as:

(a) the spouse of the person, any child of the person and any person with whom the person has an interdependency relationship at the relevant time (being in the case of a deceased person the date of their death); and

(b) any other person who in the opinion of the Trustee is at the relevant time (being in the case of a deceased person the date of their death) wholly or partially dependent on the person.

Interdependency:

Two persons have an interdependency relationship if:

(a) they have a close personal relationship; and

(b) they live together; and

(c) one or each of them provides the other with financial support; and

(d) one or each of them provides the other with domestic support and personal care.

Two people have interdependency if they have a close personal relationship but do not satisfy the other requirements of an interdependency relationship because either or both of them suffer from physical, intellectual or psychiatric disability.

You may confirm, amend or revoke your death benefit nomination at any time. As your personal circumstances change, it's important to remember to keep your nomination up-to-date.

Once properly made, your nomination replaces any previous nomination you may have made. We will write to you and confirm any new, amended or cancelled nomination. We will confirm your current binding death benefit nomination details each year with your annual statement.

A death benefit nomination will become invalid if:

- one of your beneficiaries dies before you do
- one of your nominated dependants is not a dependant at the time of your death, or
- the nomination was not made directly by you (it is the Trustee policy not to accept nominations through Power of Attorneys, or from anyone other than you)

If your nomination is invalid at the time of your death it will be treated as a non-binding nomination.

Section 4 Beneficiary details

If you would like your benefit to be paid to your estate and distributed in accordance with your Will please tick the Legal Personal Representative option, otherwise please complete the details of the people you would like your benefit to be paid to as well as the percentage of the benefit they should receive. The total must add to 100%.
